- This memorandum is written in response to a discussion you hold with representatives of this Office, where you expressed a desire to obtain any thoughts we might have that would be of assistance in your compaign to combat Communist redefection ettempts.
- We have attached quotations of cortain provisions of Title 18. United States Code, which (on the besis of the materials you have furnished us) we believe may be violated in specific individual cases. Conseivably, other provisions of the Code could be applicable in some instances; but these are the ones we feel most likely of emplication. We realize also that the evidentiary problem is difficult, and that despite our moral cortainty of a violation of law in a particular instance, it might not be possible to prove the violation in a court of law, even were the violater amonable to our judicial process. No study has been made of possibly applicable state laws; in general, the lames of each state would contain comparable provisions relating to coercion, fraud and misrepresentation.
- Realizing the difficulty of straight legal treatment of these cases, we venture to suggest that either propagands or a request to the Department of State that a given foreign representative be declared persons non grate might well make reference to the policies which underlie these lams. These policies are of course complex, and we do not feel that we have stated them in the form that a constitutional lawyer might prefer. For your purposes, however, simplicity is probably desirable; and we believe that the statements, sithough not in all cases complete, are substantially correct. The suggested steps in argument from such policies might proceed somewhat as follows:

Coercice, in any form, of any person, is improper.

Fraud and misrepresentation are improper.

The use of public or Covernmental media of communication in support of such improper conduct increases the impropriety.

SUBJECT: Communist Projection Compaigns

Under our political theories, every citizen and resident is entitled to protection from our Government, by our Government from the improper actions of other persons and, a fortical, from the improper acts of foreign governments or their representatives.

Freedom on we know it is "a valuable thing," more valuable than natural treasure. The improper conduct complained of is directed at imbuding persons through secretion and misrepresentation to surrender this freedom. Actions by a representative of a foreign government contrary to our laws or their underlying policies violate the principles of matual respect and free intercourse on the basis of which governments extend "diplomatic immunity" to a foreign representative; such actions are not part of his normal functions and violate the hospitality of the host government.

- The will note that the above suggestions are directed to actions by Communist governments which may occur within the jurisdiction of the United States. Where such actions occur in other Ventern countries, we believe that one of the most effective arguments would be the last-listed above i.e., the shuce of the hospitality of the host government. If one can prove a violation of the law of the host government, or even raise a reasonable presumption that such has occurred, this would certainly strengthen the argument.
- 5. We hope that the suggestions made here may be of some small essistance to your purpose. If the line of thought suggested here is of interest to you, and if we can be of any assistance in further research or in the drafting of any documents, we would be happy to help.
